Message from the PRESIDENT

AMDG

Dear Friends,

Pope Francis recently issued an apostolic letter. The title, "Rejoice and Be Glad", is taken from the Easter responsorial, Psalm 118. In the Gospel for the Sixth Sunday of Easter, Jesus says to his disciples, "...that my joy may be in you and your joy might be complete." The clarion call of the Easter season is to slow down, be still, and listen to joy in our lives.

Our graduating seniors will soon be sent forth to bring the joy of the Gospel to the world. They are eager and apprehensive at the same time, but clearly ready and prepared. In a variety of events in recent weeks such as the Alumni/Senior Lunch and Baccalaureate Mass, various speakers and homilists invited our seniors to reflect on the joy of their Jesuit experience at U of D Jesuit. The speakers, whether students, alumni, or teachers, all spoke of the joy of their own Jesuit education. Their stories were powerful testimonies to the joy of the Gospel.

I see "joy being made" every day in the lives of our students. It fills me with joy! I saw it in the far reaches of the Upper Peninsula where our hockey teams ventured for their annual tournament in Calumet. Joy abounded in our guys on their band trip to Hawaii. Our students shared joy with the villagers of Papaturro in rural El Salvador last summer. The courtroom in Lansing lit up with joy when our Mock Trial Team learned it placed second in the state this year. I see joy all the time in sports, service work, and co-curriculars: friendships, teamwork, hard work, competing, winning, learning, striving, giving, serving.

A true joy for me was team teaching two classes in Ignatian Prayer and Spirituality this semester with Mr. John Stein, a candidate for the Society of Jesus. And, my greatest joy is celebrating Eucharist with our students, whether in Calumet, Hawaii, El Salvador, at a retreat, before a game, or gathered as the school community. Thank you, students of U of D Jesuit, for the joy that you give me.

All the best, with my prayers,

THEODORE G. MUNZ, S.J.

President

MISSION STATEMENT

University of Detroit Jesuit High School and Academy is committed to providing the highest quality of Jesuit college preparatory education to young men in southeast Michigan. U of D Jesuit, in collaboration with parents, will challenge its students to go beyond academic excellence, to be reflective, to be committed to the service of personal faith and the promotion of justice: to be "Men for Others."

DEVELOPMENT

AMDG

Dear Friends,

It has been wonderful to be back at The High! These last few months have gone by quickly but much has been accomplished in that short time. I would like to first thank Tom Totte '74 and the rest of the development staff for all of their hard work and dedication to U of D Jesuit over the past few years. They have continued to build upon the strong foundation that has been forming for over 140 years.

Going forward the development department will be looking for ways to further engage our alumni, parents (both current and former), and all of our friends. We have been traveling quite a bit lately; including Chicago, New York, both coasts of Florida, and Texas, connecting with hundreds of our benefactors. We look forward to reaching as many of you as we can. If you are ever near 8400 S. Cambridge please feel free to stop in for a tour!

This issue of Highlights will give you a glimpse into many activities that keep us linked to this great institution as well as the people who have tirelessly giving much of their time and talent to shaping our young men. Dan Hafner, who has taught at U of D for 50 years, is a prime example of this. To teach, mold, and serve for 50 years is an incredible feat in itself, let alone doing it all in one place! Thank you Dan for all you have done and continue to do for The High.

As alumni and friends, you should be assured that we continue to strengthen our mission and identity. We know that our success is based in large part on your continued generosity and we are grateful to each and every one of you for providing us the resources we need to give an excellent Jesuit experience to our future Cubs. Thank you for all that you do for The High!

If you would like to know how you can help support our Cubs, please contact me at david.gumbel@uofdjesuit.org or at 313.927.2347.

Go Cubs!

A Circle of Care Scholarship Changes Their Future and Yours Too!

David Gumbel '00

How can I change a young man's future?

How can I honor a loved one with a scholarship at The High?

The answer to these questions is to become a Circle of Care Scholarship sponsor. A sponsor makes a special commitment to fund a U of D Jesuit education. There are two possible Circle of Care Scholarship opportunities, "Annual" and "Endowed".

The Annual Circle of Care Scholarship Program has these features:

- The sponsor is specifically assigned to the student during his four-years here. Sponsors will have the opportunity to meet the student and parents at the Annual Prayer Service and Dinner, usually held in early October. Also, there is communication three times during the year between the student and the sponsor. These letters allow you to follow the student during his days at the School.
- This is a sponsor-named scholarship. You may name the scholarship for yourself, or for another person(s) you wish to honor.
- The sponsor is matched with a student selected by the School's Financial Aid Committee. You may provide general preferences for your assigned student (e.g. resides in the city of Detroit). We will do our best to accommodate your preference. Selected students must meet and maintain certain academic, financial, and discipline eligibility standards.
- For the upcoming academic year, the gift is a four-year pledge of $13,100 per year (a total of $52,400 over the four years). A four-year pledge ensures that the student will have tuition assistance during his years at The High. The tuition to educate a student is $13,100 for the upcoming academic year.

Several benefactors have taken an extra step and have endowed their Circle of Care Scholarship gift. The endowed gift allows them to link their legacy with that of U of D Jesuit in the form of a named scholarship. Their gift will fund in perpetuity the tuition for a student at The High. All the features of the Annual Circle of Care Scholarship also apply to the Endowed Circle of Care Scholarship. For the upcoming academic year, an Endowed Circle of Care Scholarship is a gift of $250,000. The gift may be paid over a period of five years.

If you are interested in hearing more about the Circle of Care Scholarship Program, please contact me at (313) 927-2347 or at david.gumbel@uofdjesuit.org.

U of D Jesuit Introduces Matt Lewis As Head Football Coach

University of Detroit Jesuit High School & Academy is proud to announce that Matt Lewis will be its next head varsity football coach. Lewis will assume the reins of the 121st team for U of D Jesuit, with an emphasis on growing the program in the Jesuit tradition of caring for the formation of each player. He returns to the Detroit Catholic League after a two-year hiatus.

Lewis spent the previous two seasons as a teacher and assistant coach for Coach Joe Palka at Saline High School (Saline, MI). During that time, Saline won back-to-back SEC Championships, including an MHSAA District Championship in 2016. Aside from his coaching duties, Matt also coordinated college recruiting for the Hornets.

Prior to arriving at Saline, Lewis coached football at Warren De La Salle from 2009-2016. He served as Head Coach Paul Verska's offensive coordinator from 2013-2016 and was also the associate head coach from 2014-2016. His tenure there included six playoff appearances, four MHSAA District championships, two MHSAA Regional Championships, a Detroit CHSL Central Division Championship in 2015 and a MHSAA Division 2 State Championship in 2014.

Lewis is a graduate and former quarterback of Warren De La Salle High School. He earned his Bachelor of Science in Physical Education from the University of Michigan. Lewis also served as a student assistant coach for the Wolverines under both Lloyd Carr and Rich Rodriguez, working primarily with defensive backs and also serving as an academic learning coordinator. The path to coaching and teaching didn't take long.

"I graduated on a Friday from the University of Michigan and started teaching at De La Salle on a part time subbing basis the following Monday and I ended up staying there for seven years," said Lewis.

"My dad coached me in all sports growing up, he was always around. He was always coaching; my grandpa was a coach and we come from a coaching family. When Paul Verska was hired my sophomore year at De La Salle, he hired my dad and he coached me two years at De La Salle. After I went to Michigan and came back to coach, my dad coached the defense and I coached the offense."

Matt Lewis - New Head Varsity Football Coach

When the search for a new head coach started, Athletic Director Nick Kocsis knew he had a huge task ahead of him. When asked about the process, he had great things to say about the search.

"From a candidate pool, when the search started, we had the strongest candidate pool that the school has ever seen, at least in my time here at U of D Jesuit," said Kocsis.

Nick Kocsis added, "We had over 40 applicants from a number of states. It was a tough process. Matt met the qualifications we were looking for. He's an educator first, he had the ability to bring a staff with him and he has a very strong football IQ."

Kocsis said that in order for this program to move forward, someone was needed that was a good community fit for U of D Jesuit and Coach Lewis checked all those boxes. He said that they weren't necessarily looking for an alumnus or someone from U of D Jesuit, but they had to understand the Mission of the school and what we're about would adopt our mission and fit into the school community. Kocsis commented that Lewis did a great job throughout the interview process and really conveyed his vision for our student athletes.

"We want these kids to have a great experience when they play. I think they are having an excuse not to play, I want to give them an excuse to play. My goal is to create an experience for these kids. I want them to look back on their time here and think 'that was the best time of my life.' They're going to have relationships with friends and coaches that will last a lifetime. I want to provide an experience, and I want that experience to make them come back after they graduate," said Lewis.

"If I had to describe Matt in one word, it would be 'dedicated.' He's a family man and committed to Catholic education. We talk about 'Mission,' and one of our Grad at Grads in 'Open to Growth' and they constantly need to be open to growth, and Matt is committed to that every day. I think Mission is a great word to describe what we're doing," said Kocsis.

"In Mission-driven schools, the Mission is important, but the Mission really comes to life when you have adults—teachers and coaches—who are on a mission," Kocsis added.

Welcome to The High, Coach Lewis!

Mock Trial Finishes Second in the State

Congrats to our Mock Trial Team for making it to the state championships. In tough competitions, the Cubs won all three trials! Representing the Cubs were Bishara Randolph, Ryan Kellett, Will Pederson, Reginald Galanto, Ryan Moore, Daniel Sawicky, Austin Raymond, Drew Basile, Rhasean Scales and Andrew Salazar. The team is coached by Kathleen Curran and David Bilson '92.

After the state championships, the Mock Trial team competed in the State Finals on Saturday, March 24th at the Veterans Memorial Courthouse in Lansing. U of D Jesuit had to argue different versions of their criminal case four times. The team won the first three rounds and came close in a final, grueling round. Overall, UDJ is the best Mock Trial Team in the State of Michigan, second only to Kalamazoo High School!

Students Take Service Learning Trip to Philippines

We are proud to announce the completion of our first Service-Learning trip to Davao City, Philippines. Twelve of our Cubs volunteered for Operation Care Abroad, a surgical mission serving the Southern Philippines Medical Center. They assisted in unpacking and sorting medical supplies, passing out toy donations to patients, and observing various surgical procedures. Students also toured a fish farm, observed a harvest and lent a helping hand with sorting milkfish, a staple in Filipino cuisine. A highlight of the trip was when the participants shadowed local Jesuit high school students at Ateneo de Davao. Thank you to all who helped make this trip possible for our participants, and our faculty chaperones; Amy Ong, Kyle Chandler, and Priscilla Oshikiri. You can see more about their journey on their Instagram page: @UofDPhilippineExperience.

U of D Jesuit Band Performs at Pearl Harbor

Michelle Linkous and Chris Charboneau of the music department took 60 music students to Hawaii over Easter Break to perform music, service and soak up a little sun!

They gave two performances on Friday. First at the U.S.S. Missouri in Pearl Harbor where they received an American flag that flew on the ship. They also performed for the Boys and Girls Club of Honolulu, where they also did service. Our guys were incredible working and hanging out with their students.

Some other highlights of the trip include visits to Diamond Head, Catamaran Cruise, Polynesian Cultural Center, where they attended a Luau and "Ha: Breath of Life" presentation. They also spent time on the beach near the hotel, had a private mass with Father Munz on their last day and toured several parts of the island of Oahu. The Cubs plan on making trips to Nashville in 2019 and Rome in 2020! The music program at U of D Jesuit continues to thrive.

Basketball Program Remains Competitive

The Cub basketball program continues to impress, as they took home their sixth straight Catholic League title. They defeated Detroit Renaissance on Renaissance's home floor 55-41 on March 9th, to win their sixth district championship. The Cubs were also Detroit City Champions, winning the annual Operation Friendship game versus Detroit Edison (DEPSA) 68-63. The Cubs won their fifth straight Regional Championship over Detroit Martin Luther King 48-36 before losing to De La Salle in the state quarterfinals. The program continues to be one of the best in the state. The Academy 'A' basketball team also had success. They became back-to-back CYO City Champions in March. The Academy Cubs defeated Hold Family (Rochester) to bring home the title once again.

Athletic Director Nick Kocsis Named MIAAA Athletic Director of the Year

Athletic Director Nick Kocsis was selected by the Michigan Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association (MIAAA) Regional Athletic Director of the Year! Nick was honored formally with the award at the MIAAA Annual Conference this past March in Traverse City.

Inscape Named Nation's Best

Inscape, U of D Jesuit's annual literary-art magazine, has been nationally recognized twice this year for its 2017 issue. The National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE)'s Program to Recognize Excellence in Student Literary Magazines gave Inscape a ranking of "Excellent." Inscape also earned the First Place with Special Merit award as part of the American Scholastic Press Association's (APSA) annual contest and review. This recognition places last year's publication of the magazine as one of the top 60 student magazines in the country for 2017. The ASPA also gave special awards to alumnus Nicholas Pez for Best Watercolor ("Granada") and Best Artist for his many works in the issue.

The award-winning 2016-17 issue of the magazine was created by a staff of 33 students – led by senior editors Ryan Cullen, Maxim Denomme, Brendan Hogan, Ian Kennedy, and Matthew Lujan – and reflected a "Detroit" theme to coincide with the school's 140th anniversary. The editorial staff is moderated by Mr. Alexander Davidson '06.

Pistons Star Andre Drummond Helps with 29th Annual Focus: Hope Drive

The University of Detroit Jesuit High School and Academy, for the 29th year, held its annual Focus: HOPE Christmas Celebration. Over Christmas, the Cubs adopted 42 families to help spread the Holiday cheer in the form of gifts and food. The drive kicked off on Nov. 7, with each homeroom and department being asked to adopt a family in the Detroit community. In total, UDJ collected more than $16,000 to purchase gifts for the families.

The Robocubs Have Successful 2018 Season

They competed in two district competitions as well as the State Championship. During the build season that was a short six week duration, they finished their robot before "bag day" providing time to test mechanical functions as well as program autonomous modes. At the Southfield event after 12 qualification matches the team finished in 11th out of 40 teams with a win-loss record of 7-5. With the high ranking they were quickly chosen to join the Number 4 alliance as their first pick for the playoffs. They won both quarterfinals matches sending the team into a tough semifinal against the Number 1 alliance. Unfortunately they lost both semifinals but ended the event on a high note by winning the Innovation in Controls Award, sending the team into an elite group of teams that has won all five engineering awards! The season continued with the Milford event which was extremely competitive. The team finished the qualification matches in 15th place out of 40 teams with a win-loss record of 6-6. They were selected as the second pick of the Number 1 alliance for playoffs. As a member of the Number 1 alliance, they made it to the finals where they lost both matches due to mechanical issues of one of the alliance partners. The team finished the event as Finalists as well as winning the Entrepreneurship Award for the first time in team history! With two successful districts, the team finished 83rd in the state out of 508 teams and qualified for the State Championship. At the State Championship they finished in 28th position out of 40 teams in the DTE Division with a win-loss record of 4-8. Although they finished in the lower half of the division, the robot performed extremely well and the team is extremely proud of one of their best robots yet! To finish off the season they won the DTE Field State Championship Creativity Award for their unique approach to climbing during a match as well as lifting other robots. This award is a huge honor to win on the State Championship level. The team finished with a very successful season and is excited for next year!

Planned Giving Planning Your Will

I often speak with people who tell me that they don't have the time to plan their estate. My response to them is that it may be easier and less time-consuming than you think. In just a one-hour meeting with an estate planning attorney—along with some preparation—you can be well on your way to having a legally sound will. First, contact an estate planning attorney. These legal specialists are experts in will planning. They understand how your decisions affect your estate and can guide you toward a path that will best meet your goals.

From Start to Finish

Here's how you and your attorney will progress from nothing to something in just one hour.

- What Are Your Goals?
In the beginning, expect to answer a lot of questions regarding your goals for your estate. For example: How do you want to provide for minor children? Do you want to give back to your community?
- Assets and Liabilities
Discussing your assets and liabilities, as well as how they are titled, will help your attorney determine whether your current situation aligns with your estate goals.
- Additional Considerations
You'll discuss guardianship for minor children, an executor for your estate, medical considerations and other important issues.
- Next Steps
Assuming the meeting goes as planned, at this point your attorney should have a good feel for your estate and be ready to draft your will. Once a draft is complete and agreed upon, you'll meet again to execute the will.*
More complex estates or living trusts may require additional meetings and documentation.*

Find the Right Estate Planning Attorney

Start by soliciting references from friends, relatives and co-workers. Talk to bankers, life insurance agents, accountants and financial planners. Your local bar association may have an online referral service. As you move forward, consider:

- Experience and references
- How fees are charged along with total cost estimate
- Professional accomplishments
- Percentage of work devoted to estate planning
- Alliances with professionals in related fields

Make the Most of Your Time

To maximize your meeting, be prepared to discuss the following:

- Background information (address, marital status, name of children, etc.)
- Assets and liabilities
- Guardians for minor children
- Executor for your estate
- Special considerations such as medical concerns or prenuptial agreements

Results – You will have a document that will provide you with peace of mind and spare your heirs much aggravation.

Four Questions: Godwin Ihentuge '02

Godwin Ihentuge '02 is YumVillage's chef with a food truck hoping to one day open a brick and mortar restaurant. Godwin is a caterer with a marketing background who wants to see changes within the restaurant industry and help emerging chefs navigate the business. Godwin went to Wayne State on an athletic scholarship recently catered the B.A.S.E. Reunion in early March 2018.

1. How has U of D Jesuit shaped you both personally and/or professionally?

More people than ever are chasing their dream of making it big as a "foodpreneur". In recent years, culinary school enrollment has rapidly increased, while tuition rates and student loan debt has risen alongside it. The successful foodpreneur must continuously practice their craft to perfect their style, while also working hard to master the art of building a business.

I originally came to U of D Jesuit as a 7th grader, hungry for private school living and a new chance to talk to girls...they were at the open house, but little did I know, it was an all-boys school. I even started a candy selling operation out of my bookbag before I was introduced to JUG. I came to U of D Jesuit with no expectations and little idea of who I was and the type of person I wanted to be. What I gained was a sense of purpose, a brotherhood, and a deep rooted desire to give back to my communities. If it were not for U of D Jesuit, I can't imagine where I'd be and while I was begging to be placed in a Co-ed setting after my first day in the academy, I know with certainty that attending the high has led to some of the strongest relationships to date I've had in my life.

2. What advice would you give someone at The High or anyone looking to start their own business?

Do not give up. All I wanted to do was make good food and share it with people that I felt would appreciate what I had to offer. What I ended up doing was everything else but. I started looking for options to help alleviate my workload and I couldn't quite find the solution I was looking for. I knew I needed money though to put my newfound insight to work. I decided to work as a mortgage banker at Quicken Loans. The days were long and really tested my mental capacity. I would work 60-80 hour weeks at Quicken. I would then come home and put the rest of my time towards building out the structure of YumVillage. I sacrificed relationships, time....I was determined. With foodies always on the lookout for the next big thing and chefs always eager to provide a unique culinary experience, YumVillage looks forward to creating a platform that makes it easier for both sides to find each other and satisfy their desires. It's been a journey to get to this point, but in the grand scheme of things, we're only just beginning!

3. Who had the biggest influence on you during your time at U of D Jesuit?

I'm not sure if this counts or not, but I have to say that my biggest influences were my classmates. We were all thick as thieves even outside of the groups everyone at U of D Jesuit looked out for each other. I work very closely with Jason Gipson '02 and whenever I we talk about our realities today we always circle back to U of D Jesuit giving us the foundation to make change. We had representation of culture, religion, different economic backgrounds, orientations and mindsets. What we got was a true working model for the United States of America...a mosaic based model recognizing the unique and individual qualities of each to create a bigger more beautiful picture. U of D Jesuit allowed us to be ourselves and the environment fostered by the high bridged the inroads toward that identity. We tend to force assimilation in America, which is fine. But it sure was cool to have a Staff and Faculty that guided acknowledgement of differences and pushed for collaborative thought.

4. What is YumVillage?

YumVillage is a West African and Caribbean food truck company that focuses on churning out menu items that are easy to eat on the go. Our real mission is to create inclusive food systems in Detroit. That means our staff is compensated properly, and our food is sourced sustainably. We cater and operate an event production and management company. We recently had the privilege to cater the 2nd Annual B.A.S.E. Alumni & Friends reunion on March 3rd, which was a cool experience. We also have a podcast called Refrigerator Diaries: Behind the Food. You can find us on Facebook or visit our website, www.yumvillage.com.

2018 Alumni-Senior Luncheon

Alumnus of the Year: Tim Dinan '83

On Wednesday, April 25th, 300 alumni and graduating seniors attended the 31st annual Alumni-Senior Luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club. Each year, we honor an Alumnus of the Year. In 2018, U of D Jesuit recognized Tim Dinan '83. It was a great event. Jim Mulhern '83 and John J. "JJ" Conway '90 had a nice introduction for our guest of honor. Tim Dinan is an accomplished attorney and loyal Cub. Tim's fellow Cubs requested that the transcript from his speech be put in our publication. The lessons and stories he told truly embody what it means to be a U of D Jesuit alumnus and Man for Others.

The Alumnus of the Year Award began in 1966 by the Alumni Association to recognize U of D Jesuit Alumni who have distinguished themselves in either their personal or professional lives while at the same time, continued to provide service to their community. To date, 136 men that have lived out the "Men for Others" mission have been honored with this award.

Tim Dinan '83 Alumnus of The Year Speech

"It's great to be in a room with so many friends and fellow alumni. Thank you to the U of D community for selecting me for this award. I am honored and humbled to be recognized by you.

What you have heard about me today is the product of many people helping me get to where I am today. My brothers from the class of 1983 with whom I grew up; My mom and my extended family who are all generous people who give so much to U of D and other great causes. Their example is the one I try to follow.

I owe so much to my wife Julie and our children, Tim (class of '09), Mike (class of '11) and Claire (Mercy class of '14) Anything I have done personally or professionally comes with their support, sacrifice and blessing. Thank you and I love you.

To the Class of 2018: You are now part of a 141-year-old institution with over 15,000 alums living all over the world. We lead in professional excellence, business innovation, and service to our many constituencies. It's through our Jesuit education and traditions that we make a positive impact on the world.

As a body, we are engaged with the world's great events and institutions. You find our brothers in positions of politics, commerce, science and religion. Professionals, academics, business owners and leaders in every other pursuit you can think of. We serve on charity boards, feed the hungry, play Santa Claus for children who do not get a Christmas and offer our time and treasure in countless other ways.

We are a brotherhood joined our shared experience of academic rigor, spiritual and emotional growth, good and bad times, and yes, classrooms with no girls.

We are a community where membership carries benefits and responsibilities. We expect a lot from each other and give what we can.

I was lucky to be a 6-year man. Within a month of being in the Academy, I knew I had found my place. I felt a great sense of belonging to something special; to something better. It was the first time that I was appreciated for who I am. I met classmates and friends from all over and gained a broader perspective of Detroit. I learned how we were different and the same.

I owe so much to U of D. The academic discipline that was instilled in all of us allowed me to look smart for the first 3 semesters of college without much effort. U of D gave me the tools to think critically and to accept nothing on its face, a skill sorely lacking today in a society filled with fake news and false headlines.

U of D gave me the support when I needed it the most. When I was in 8th grade, my dad died. He was only 41. He had been sick for a while. I don't think I appreciated just how sick he was.

About a month before he passed away, Fr. Frank Canfield took me out of a history class and said we were going to have a mass for my dad. I assumed it would be next Sunday's mass where he would be mentioned in the prayers of intention. He said, no, we are going to do it now.

Our student chapel was in a small, dimly lit room on the 2nd floor. I had never served mass as an altar boy, so I clumsily helped mumbling parts of the mass I could not remember. There was a certain intimacy about directing the mass to my dad I had never experienced in church. Truth be told, a mass was not a moment when I usually connected with anything except the stopwatch running in my head counting down the minutes and seconds until we would be done.

As I followed along with Fr. Canfield at the altar, I was just amazed that anyone knew or cared that much to ask about my dad much less take the time to say a mass for him.

Alumnus of the Year: Tim Dinan '83

That mass, that 22 minutes of time, gave me a moment of hope; a moment of solace as we prayed for him. I never forgot how my friends, teachers and the Jesuit community were there for us when he passed. I never forgot how Fr. Frank recognized the priority of my spiritual well-being . . . how U of D knew what I needed that day.

Since graduating, being a Man for Others is easy when it comes to the High. U of D has always accepted me for who I am and accepted what I had to give. It has never felt like work to me. It's just like being at home.

All the alums here today and alums all over the world are excited for your journey from high school grad to new alum. After all, you are only in high school for four years, but you are an alum for the rest of your life.

We know you are academically well prepared. Wherever you go from here, you can trust you have the tools you need to make choices and set your own priorities. You'll find that college will refine your thinking, not teach how to think. You already know how to do that.

If you move away from Detroit, you will find your brothers in Chicago, LA, Atlanta, Kalamazoo, Escanaba, or wherever the world takes you. You'll be surprised who you may meet and what they can share with you.

As the old saying goes, free advice is worth the paper it's written on. Rather than advise you, I will share a few things I believe every graduate of the High has learned:

1. Find a professional pursuit that engages you and makes you happy; Not in a Disney Channel kind of way, but something that satisfies your need for a challenge, something that taps into your intellect and creativity; something that satisfies you at the end of the day as you look back on it. Fair warning: it may take a while to discover just what that is.

2. Do not live someone else's dream. If you want to be a lawyer, be a lawyer. If you want to teach, teach. Do not assume something can't be done just because someone else said so. Do not let someone else's fear stop you.

3. The real learning in all of life comes through some form of struggle. Think about it: the best lessons you have learned, your highest achievements and greatest rewards have come through work and struggle. Embrace it as you move forward.

4. Find a community to share your talents: Whatever you have to give as an athlete, scholar, artist or just someone who cares, make sure to share that gift. It goes farther that way and pays great returns.

5. Support underdogs: I have always been a fan of underdogs. My own career has been built on representing underdogs and sometimes prevailing even when the odds were against us. Underdogs do well because they try harder and step up with the knowledge they might not win. And when you do win, it is a lot more fun.

I'll leave you with my favorite quote from one of our lesser known presidents, Calvin Coolidge. Silent Cal was the antithesis of the Jazz Age; taciturn and reserved, he valued action over words. His motto was:

"Nothing in this world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not; unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent. The slogan 'Press On!' has solved and will always solve the problems of the human race."

Gentlemen, I hope you enjoy your graduation, your summer and that you start a great adventure as you go off into the world.

Thank you. "
