Message from the PRESIDENT

AMDG

Dear Friends,

The tradition of forming men for others for the greater glory of God at U of D Jesuit is only possible because of the generosity of so many alumni, parents, friends, faculty and staff. I pray in gratitude for all of you each day. You truly transform lives.

The phenomenal solar eclipse that occurred a few weeks back paradoxically reminded us of the immense power of the sun when it is shielded by our lowly, singular moon. And, we were humbled by our place in the universe during the eclipse. But, the Lord nevertheless tells us "You are the light of the world"! We must believe that the light of our tradition of Jesuit education and our mission at U of D Jesuit is a greater force than even the energy of our sun. This generation of Cubs that you help to form will bring the powerful light of love to the world.

Thank you for being part of U of D Jesuit. Thanks be to our good and gracious God.

Ted Munz SJ

THEODORE G. MUNZ, S.J.

President

MISSION STATEMENT

University of Detroit Jesuit High School and Academy is committed to providing the highest quality of Jesuit college preparatory education to young men in southeast Michigan. U of D Jesuit, in collaboration with parents, will challenge its students to go beyond academic excellence, to be reflective, to be committed to the service of personal faith and the promotion of justice: to be "Men for Others."

Praise him, sun and moon; praise him, all you shining stars! Praise him, you highest heavens, and you waters above the heavens! Let them praise the name of the LORD, for he commanded and they were created.

Who's New At The High? - Newest Faculty & Staff

Kathryn Beard, Ph.D.
(Social Studies Department)

After taking several courses in several disciplines at Oakland Community College after high school and still having no clear employment or occupational decisions, Kathryn began attending Wayne State University as an undergrad in the Winter of 1992, with the intention of obtaining a B.A.. She loved the history courses she was taking and decided that's what she would get her degree in, still with no clear idea of how she would use it professionally. Kathryn had wonderful mentors and a great group of professors in her corner and when she received her degree in 1997, and obtained her M.A. in history in 1999. The chair of the History Department encouraged Kathryn to continue to get her Ph.D. and offered her a position as a Graduate Teaching. As much as she loved the classroom and learning environment, she never saw herself as a teacher. She didn't like speaking in public. Kathryn finished her degree in 2011 and stayed at Wayne as an adjunct for 15 years, teaching at local community colleges part-time as well. Teaching history became her passion, both her avocation and her vocation. Kathryn thanks the chair to this day and all those who believed in her. They helped her discover what brings out the best in her, and she feels it is her obligation to pay that type of concern and commitment to personal development forward with her students.

Kathryn will be teaching U.S. History and African American History.

Nancy Carapellotti
(English Department)

Nancy is returning to teach at U of D Jesuit after 11 years away, having taught here from 1996-2006 alongside many of the current faculty. She has 25 years of teaching experience, most of it in Catholic schools, but U of D Jesuit has always felt like home to her. A Hillsdale graduate, she earned her bachelor's degree in English and later completed a master's degree in English at Eastern Michigan University. During the course of her career, she has taught both at the middle school level and in high school, most recently teaching Honors English II and AP Language and Composition at Fr. Gabriel Richard High School in Ann Arbor. She and her husband Dave have four children: daughters Hannah, Carly, and Lucy, and son Owen, who this fall will follow in the footsteps of his grandfather (class of 1960) and join the Cubs as a member of the class of 2021.

Nancy will be teaching Academy English.

Eric Schuman
(Science Department)

Eric, a Livonia, MI native, received his Bachelor of Liberal Arts from Kalamazoo College where he majored in physics. While at Kalamazoo, Eric swam for four seasons for the Men's Swim team that won three conference titles. After graduating from Kalamazoo, Eric attended John Carroll University where he earned his Masters in Education. Eric also was a graduate assistant coach at John Carroll helping guide the both the Men's and Women's team to conference titles during the 2016-17 season. Eric is passionate about physics and is excited to begin his teaching career at U of D Jesuit while also helping to coach the swim team in the upcoming season.

Eric will be teaching Conceptual Physics and Academy PE.

Cyril Whitaker, S.J.
(Theology)

Fr. Cyril W. Whitaker, S.J., known as "Cy," grew up in Cincinnati, where he went to grade school, high school, undergraduate, and graduate school. He has been a teacher for thirty-nine years, within which time he has taught grade school, high school, and college students. He entered the Society of Jesus at the age of 42 in 1999, was ordained in 2009, was associate pastor of St. Xavier Church, and taught classical languages and philosophy at Xavier University in Cincinnati. This last year, he was in Portland, Oregon, for tertianship, the last stage of Jesuit formation before final vows, worked at the Institute of Priestly Formation at Creighton University in Omaha, and moved to Detroit just recently. In addition to teaching in the Theology Department at U of D Jesuit, he will be the director of college seminarians at Sacred Heart Major Seminary.

Cy will be teaching the Ignatian Prayer & Meditation class.

Newest Faculty & Staff

Michael Christiana, S.J.
(Mission/Faith & Service)

Michael Christiana, S.J., entered the Jesuit novitiate in Berkley, MI, in August, 1999. He was ordained in June, 2010. His educational background is the following: B.A. in History, Religion, and Mandarin Chinese from St. Olaf College in Northfield, MN; M. Div from the University of Chicago; and M.A. in Political Philosophy from Loyola University Chicago. Fr. Michael grew up in the Anglican Communion, and was received into the Roman Catholic Church in 1996, at the age of 30. He felt called to become a Catholic because of Catholic Social Teaching – the emphasis on social justice, as well as a consistent ethic of life – the “seamless garment” as Cardinal Bernardin so eloquently called it. Fr. Michael’s ministry has been divided between two poles: on the one side ministry to the incarcerated and those in Latino street gangs, and on the other side ministry in our Jesuit high schools. He has found both ministries to be equally fulfilling. Fr. Michael will assist in programs in the Mission Integration and Adult Formation Office, athletic team chaplaincy programs in the Athletics Office, and retreat and service programs in the Office of Faith and Service.

Taylor Ogburn
(Math Department)

At a young age, Taylor knew she would work with children in some capacity. Around the age of 16, she decided to become an educator because she enjoyed mentoring and working with youth and found great satisfaction in watching children grow. It wasn’t until college that Taylor tapped into her passion with mathematics, after one of her college professors saw her talent with numbers. He encouraged her to use her gift with numbers and pursue a career in math. Taylor did just that and went on and graduated from Eastern Michigan University in December 2016 with a bachelor’s of arts in Elementary Education Mathematics Comprehensive. While at Eastern Michigan, she became an esteemed member of the National Student Organization SFER (Students For Education Reform) and held the position of Event Coordinator of her Campus Chapter. As a board member, she has traveled across the country and attended national seminars to advocate for educational equity within impoverished communities. In her free time, Taylor enjoys traveling, and spending quality time with friends and family.

Taylor will be teaching Academy Mathematics.

Thomas Costello '71
(Multicultural & Inclusion Initiatives)

After four years as a faculty-in-residence at Ohio University, Tom is excited to return to his high school alma mater. At Ohio, Tom taught courses in courtroom rhetoric, intercultural communication, conflict management and the Civil Rights Movement. Prior to his return to Ohio University, he spent more than 30 years as a lawyer and advocate for civil rights working at Compuware Corporation and serving as President of the Michigan Roundtable for Diversity and Inclusion. His work and teaching is centered on the principles of access, equity and inclusion, and he hopes to bring that to our students, faculty and staff. Tom is an avid reader and cyclist. He is also looking forward to assisting Rick Bennetts with the varsity hockey team this season. Tom’s wife Emmy works in the human resources field, his daughter works at Loyola High School (Detroit), his son lives and works in North Carolina and Emmy’s daughter lives and works in Detroit. He is honored to be part of U of D Jesuit and its work and mission.

Tom will be serving as the school’s first Director of Multicultural and Inclusion Initiatives.

Jon Hevron '09
(Communications Manager)

Jon Hevron comes back to The High after spending the past two years as the graphic designer for Michigan State Athletics. Hevron spent several years outside of Michigan working in athletic communications. Some of his stops have included being the Assistant Director of Athletic Communications at Radford University, Sports Information Assistant at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, where he also aided the football program with graphics for recruiting, and as a graduate assistant at West Virginia University. The Rochester Hills native graduated U of D Jesuit in 2009. Hevron earned his bachelor’s from Central Michigan University in sports management and journalism, and after transferring from West Virginia after a stint in the United State Coast Guard, completed his master’s degree in athletic administration with a focus in intercollegiate athletics. When he’s not designing, Hevron is running, sailing or getting lost outdoors.

Who's New At The High? - Alumni Volunteer Corps

The Alumni Volunteer Program, founded in 1994, provides an opportunity for alumni to use their talents and energies to benefit the U of D Jesuit Community on a daily basis. The AVC program offers a unique opportunity to influence students in many different ways and offers young alumni the chance to be "Men for Others." The AVC's benefit from living as a community in a school-owned house located adjacent to campus, free utilities, a small living stipend, professional career advice, a wide range of work experience, the challenge to serve others and the chance to develop spiritually.

What made you want to be an AVC?

When I was going here, when I was a student, I saw how passionate the guys were about what they were doing and figured logically that they graduate and are back so there must be a reason for it. In college, I started looking into teaching as a profession, and I said what better opportunity than to actually work at a school alongside professional educators and learn from them and figure out if this is the profession for me. This school taught me so much, as well, and it is very cliché, and you'll hear a lot of blurbs as they say, but it really did teach me a lot. I always say that U of D Jesuit didn't just teach me the subject, but taught me how to learn and just think in general. As a student I thrived here, so I gravitated toward this community and environment. I wanted to be in this environment again, but in a different role.

How has the transition from student to faculty been?

It is a little strange. I like it, though. Certain things as a student you don't care about. As a student, you don't care if someone's shirt is tucked in or not, but now I have to. I have to catch myself and go into teacher mode and catch everything. A lot of it I've been picking up by example from other teachers that I work with. Also, I knew what the standard is here at U of D Jesuit. I knew that when I was here if I was going to be yelled at for certain things or asked to dress a certain way, talk a certain way or refrain from other forms, than I am going to hold the students I see to that same standard. It has been a tough adjustment though. There are certain things you see. I've had a few instances where I hear a student say something that I find funny, but I can't react to that because I am now the adult, which is a weird idea I am still coping with a little. I do like it though. I wouldn't be doing it if I didn't. That has been the toughest part and reflecting about the things that we are calling students out for. I realize now that this can set the foundation for what you are doing and who you are later.

What subjects and programs are you working with?

I am helping out in English IV with Mr. (Daniel) Babcock, which is two periods. I also work in the Learning Center with Mrs. (Dawn) Schulte, helping teach Psychology with Mr. (John) Simmons, referee freshmen intramurals and will be helping out with the basketball team once the season starts. We have had some workouts already, but it'll start picking up more in mid to late October. And then I also have the after school program as well. When I was at UDJ, I played for a year (basketball) and then was cut by JV. I was involved in videography here, so I was the video coordinator as well. I filmed all of the varsity games except for a few over my four years. I am really excited to change up the role a bit. I was used to being coached at and now I get to apply what I've learned and teach.

Have you given a JUG yet?

I haven't given one yet. I've been really close a few times. I honestly should have four or five under my belt right now, but I really have been forgiving. I have given too many second chances. I haven't had any horrible situations though where it is clearly a JUG. It has been a lot of discretionary situations.

Matt Forbes '13

Creighton University

Major: Chemistry

Minor: Biological Physics

What made you want to be an AVC?

I just thought it was an awesome program ever since I was a student here. It's like a bridge to the students and teachers. It brings young minds back to the school so they can teach us what they've learned in college.

How different has it been as faculty than as a student?

I would probably say that there is a lot of work that goes in on the faculty side that students don't realize. The faculty does a great job of not making that apparent, so it makes the students' job so that they just have to worry about themselves and not the faculty. I am really impressed with that and all of the behind the scenes work that goes into it.

Has there been anything that has shocked you or caught you off guard?

There hasn't been really a tough situation yet, but the Science and Engineering Center really struck me. Things are completely different over here. It is still U of D Jesuit and it still looks like UDJ, but there have been a lot of changes over the past four years and I'm really impressed.

What classes and programs are you working with?

Right now I am just paired with Mrs. Oshikiri. I am also working in the Arrupe Learning Center and tutoring kids after school in the Magis Program. At the moment, I am pretty much strictly chemistry. I am helping with intramurals as well during period five. Other than that, I am still getting involved with different things.

What are goals as an AVC this year?

I want to get involved in as much as possible. U of D Jesuit has a lot to offer as a student and there are a lot of opportunities on the other side of that coin, and I want to get involved with a bunch of programs, especially things that I was involved with as a student such as stage crew. I think it would be cool to be involved with those one last time.

How was it to give your first JUG?

I was thinking 'I am not this kid's mom. I am not picking up his trash from the lunch table for him.' (laughing).

Curtis Scheulke '11

Loyola University Chicago

Major: Journalism

What made you to be an AVC?

I wanted to be an AVC since about the first week of ninth grade. I saw AVCs, and one of my full-time teachers was an AVC. I love the school so much that I wanted to come back and be one of the teachers. I had some time in college where I wasn't sure what I was going to do next so I figured this would be a good opportunity to come back.

Has there been a surprise about being on the faculty side now?

I never pictured myself making coffee in the teacher's lounge. I don't want to say it's hard to give JUGs in case there are any students reading this, but now I have to be worried about the dress code and people's haircuts. It all feels natural though. One of the things I liked about being a student here was that until you give reason not to, everyone treats you like an adult. And that includes consequences. I always felt like they treated me like an adult as a student, and so now that I am an adult, it has been a smooth transition. Calling teachers by their first names is not something I am used to.

Have you given a JUG yet?

I have not given one yet. I am still getting used to how extreme it needs to be to give one. I had to yell at a kid for sneaking into the gym during a soccer game, but nothing has turned into a JUG yet. I definitely don't want to go the whole year without giving a JUG.

What classes and programs are you working with?

I am assisting Kristen Rockwell with Digital Photography and Nicholas Bickes with Yearbook and Multimedia Production. I am also helping out in the Faith and Service office with paperwork or whatever they need me to do. I am mostly helping out with people's photography needs. I am helping a couple students with their photography portfolios. I was in theatre my senior year, so I am also helping out with the fall play and spring musical. It meant a lot to me so I wanted to give back.

What opportunities are you hoping to pursue after this school year?

Walking the halls with a black lanyard (represents staff and faculty) is kind of addicting. I don't have an education degree, but I might consider going back for one. I am a Journalism major. I would apply if it fit me to stay here. I would want to come back to work at U of D Jesuit in some capacity. I've been thinking about checking out UDM, Madonna or Wayne State for an Education degree. I have been in Chicago for too long. I was there for six years. I like being in Detroit and being back in the city.

What made you want to come back to be an AVC?

The opportunity to come back and work with these great teachers that I had when I was here, such as Mr. Lauchlan. I really admire Dan Hill as well. The teachers that I had at U of D Jesuit aren't anything less than inspiring. I enjoy the opportunity to come back and be with the students, and to help in what can be a turbulent time for them. Any teenage experience can be turbulent whether you want it to or not. It is an interesting time for that person in life, and I think you can see a change appear. It's such an important time for development and to uncover their passions.

What classes and programs are you working with at U of D Jesuit?

Fortunately they lined up with what I studied, so I am with Mr. (Michael) Lauchlan's English IV classes and Mr. (Edward) Maddox' Spanish III class. I am coaching Academy B soccer and am an assistant coach on the varsity team. I played JV my freshman year here, and then played varsity the rest of my time. It is good to be back in the program.

How is it being a member of the faculty after being a student?

One thing that I was pleasantly surprised by was that there is no condensation toward me from any of the permanent faculty members. I am treated very well by them, especially by both Mr. Lauchlan and Mr. Maddox. I have had a lot of freedom to do what I want to do in the classroom, which is really cool. I've had just a really warm welcome. It is something I haven't done before. Surprises are a regular thing for me these days. I don't think I am a natural get up in front of people and talk guy, so I am working on improving that. It's all pretty new to me - coaching and teaching.

Have you given any JUGs yet?

Yes. I try to limit the number I give out and give them out for things that I can't avoid like blatant things. I gave a JUG the other day for students throwing projectiles toward each other, another for sleeping in class. I really try to avoid being super disciplinarian though.

Ishmael El'Shabazz '13

DePaul University

Major: Public Relations, Advertising and Journalism

What made you want to come back to be an AVC?

Part of DePaul's experience was the Vincentian process, so it was very reflective. It was my senior year when I was in a History of the Catholic Church class and we had to, for our final, teach about a section. I did the Josephites and Black Catholics. Afterwards, my professor who actually passed away - he was going through chemo then - told me that I should teach because I have a passion for it, and he liked my project. I went home and thought about it. This was around November, and a lot of my friends were talking about the AVC program, and so I figured I'd try it out and see if I enjoy mentoring. So far it's going well.

What class are you working with?

I work primarily with Mrs. (Kim) Redigan in the Theology department, teaching Human Dignity and Wealth and Poverty.

Do you feel that you utilize your major at DePaul as an AVC?

Communications is in everything. The creative processes of PR and advertising kind of go into Human Dignity and Wealth and Poverty in the idea phase. With the journalism, there is investigative journalism and wanting to know the truth and educate the masses, so that definitely comes through as well, especially when we talk about Wealth and Poverty, social teaching and applying it to our everyday lives and looking at real issues in the world.

How is it being a faculty member now?

Oh it is still really weird. I still look behind me to see if Mr. (Chuck) Gumbel is watching me when I cross the traffic pattern. Everything has been really cool. A lot of things have been the same, but a lot is also different. There is just a sense of safety here because I had been here for five years, and it just feels like home.

Have you given a JUG?

I have given JUGs. I write more than I actually follow through with. One day I was subbing and this student was going crazy, so I wrote him up for seven infractions. My favorite part is that he was trying to argue with me, saying I couldn't do that. So I took out the handbook and wrote down every infraction and cited it. By the end he just accepted it. I ended up not writing it though. I had him hooked, but I think JUGs are a reflective process. For me, him realizing what he did wrong was the reward.

State Of The High

The Sistine Chapel Choir Visits Detroit Opera House

A divine performance from "The Pope's Choir" received three standing ovations from a sold-out audience at the Detroit Opera House on Saturday, Sept. 23.

Officially known as the Cappella Musicale Pontificia Sistina, the Pontifical Sistine Chapel Choir is the oldest choir in the world with records dating to the 5th and 6th centuries. The Choir is composed of 22 men and 29 boys, led by Monsignor Massimo Palombella.

Their concert series only hit three cities in the United States: New York, Washington, D.C. and Detroit.

"But why stop in Detroit? Because it's about rebirth. The Choir has gone through a rebirth, finding renaissance music in the Vatican Library and are bringing it to a place it may need it most," said Joe Balistreri '04, the Festival Chorus Conductor. "This concert will be a festival of our renaissance, the spirit of Detroit."

The U of D Jesuit choir joined the Festival Chorus with director Michelle Linkous. It was already the Cubs' fifth performance of the school year. The U of D Jesuit choir is comprised of 28 students.

The Festival Chorus sang six songs starting with the European Renaissance, "Cantate Domino" and moved into the Detroit Renaissance songs including, "O Radiant Light" by Norah Duncan IV, chair of Wayne State University's music department.

Dressed in white and crimson robes, the men and boys recited Latin lyrics referencing Scripture, all themed to the Renaissance. Starting with "Gaudete In Domino," they amazed the audience with nine songs and received a standing ovation.

"The Sistine Chapel Choir is pleased to visit Detroit, a city that today represents a cultural touchstone for the world and the culture of the Renaissance," said Msgr. Palombella. "We hope you continue to find hope through religious songs."

The Festival Chorus and the Sistine Chapel Choir joined together for a finale performance of "Tu Es Petrus," which received another standing ovation.

During their first visit to Detroit, the Sistine Chapel Choir visited Wayne State University, Belle Isle Park, Henry Ford Museum, the Detroit Institute of Arts and Comerica Park.

They also held a private concert at the Ste. Anne de Detroit Parish, the oldest parish in the archdiocese and second-oldest parish in the U.S.

3D Printers: Giving UDJ Students Space to Create

The University of Detroit Jesuit High School and Academy has always been known for its commitment to Detroit and its commitment to academic excellence. As a part of the continued growth to educating men for others, UDJ expanded its curriculum and opened its doors to a whole new realm of possibilities with introducing multiple 3D printers into the classroom.

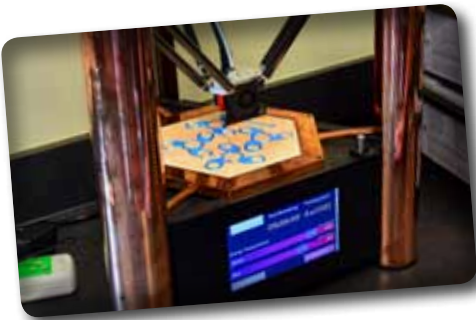

U of D Jesuit's initial 3D printer purchase occurred just over four years ago when Peter Guenther '92 brought in an EKOCYCLE Cube, which currently resides in the CAD lab. The original printer was used to print parts that were designed and modeled in the CAD course.

Fast forward seven years from the start of the CAD course and now UDJ has once again committed to providing its students with the most cutting edge technology in its curriculum. Ed Utter '10, a member of the original CAD course in 2010 and now The High's Dean of Instructional Technology, has picked up the ball that Guenther handed off and has been running with it.

"We purchased a new prototype from a local Detroit-based company called Detroit Delta last year," Utter explained. "Delivery of the printer wasn't until toward the end of the school year, but we began utilizing it pretty quickly. We have purchased the new model from the company, which is expected to be delivered this fall. It'll have some new features, be constructed out of aluminum instead of copper and just be more efficient."

The new version of the printer, the Deco, will enable classes at UDJ to mass produce parts, where with other 3D printers this is not an option.

"The best part with the new version is that it will print, cool, auto-release and then you can even program it to have the part nudged off the plate into a bucket or something so that you can queue up a job of 30 or 40 pieces and have it print all night," said Utter. "There is something to be said about having one excellent printer that allows you to do that compared to having four or five just okay printers that you can't."

Additionally, the Deco offers UDJ's constituents the ability to print with all sorts of materials, not just certain plastics. U of D Jesuit has the ability to print using nylons, more rigid materials for use in the auto club or even a flexible material.

It has been seen, even specifically with Jesuit high schools across the country, that any school with a CAD engineering course has made the purchase of anywhere from one to five MakerBot printers. 3D printers being utilized in curriculums is certainly not a breaking development, but it's how U of D Jesuit has approached the technology and its decision to partner with a local company that is pushing the boundaries of the industry with its next-generation of machines.

"What we are doing different than anyone is we are asking the question, 'how can our constituents and classes in the building utilize these printers and how can we give access to the most possible in the most interesting ways?'"

I'd love to see material sciences, chemistry, physics or even the robotics team using these devices," Utter said. "Latin could print off a model of the Coliseum for a demonstration, or English print the Globe Theatre."

"Our goal is to provide students the opportunity to go from concept to design to production," said Science Department Chair Claudia Foerg. "A 3D printer is only a piece to the puzzle, but it allows them to actually make their own product. Last year, our kids actually printed their own spinners."

The printers have already made an impact, not just in U of D Jesuit's CAD program, but were a major part of the Maker Science camp offered over the summer. They may just be a piece of the overall puzzle, but the 3D printers have provided UDJ students the opportunity to meaningfully explore. They have given students the space to take a front seat and create.

"We have our own fabrication shop, kids can weld and use a CNC (Computer Numeric Control) machine and program in what they want to cut, and have the ability to make a car here," Foerg shared. "That is it. It goes beyond a printer and everything. Students can go from drawing board designs to fabrication. Now we can offer a truer engineering program all in-house."

Auto Club: Monza Jr. Project To Be In Chevy Hall of Fame

The U of D Jesuit Auto Club's Monza Junior Go Kart project from last school year will be on display at the Chevy Hall of Fame in Decatur, Illinois.

The project was purchased by Eva McGuire from UDJ's Auto Club upon its completion. It will be on loan to the Corvair Preservation Foundation to put on display at the new Corvair Museum at the Chevy Hall of Fame.

Only 50 Monza Juniors were ever produced. The particular kart restored by the U of D Jesuit Auto Club was body No. 47, serial No. 2220719.

The first Monza Junior Go Kart was originally built based on a scaled-down version of the General Motors show car, the Monza SS. It was built on a racing kart frame and was powered by a 2-cycle West Bend Power Bee engine. It inhaled and exhaled through twin, velocity stacks topped Dellorto carburetors and a free-flowing megaphone exhaust. It was complete with instrumentation, a teak wood racing wheel and racing slicks.

Prior to 1965, GM contacted Rupp MFG, a mini-bike and go kart company located in Mansfield, Ohio, to provide a chassis for a miniature fiberglass replica of the Monza SS show car. Rupp ended up pairing one of their existing models of chassis, the Dart Kart, with the scale replica Monza SS body which was then redesigned to fit the Dart chassis. The redesign kept the main body lines, but changed the rear deck area behind the driver, the cockpit back shaping was lowered and removed the windscreen. The single seat Monza Junior was powered by a 3.5 HP Lauson motor. The body had integrated inner-fender wells to keep out road debris. The steering consisted of a uni-action steering linkage, and braking was handled with a 6-inch drum and brake strap setup common to karts. The driver's ride comfort was enhanced by inflatable rubber tires and a padded naugahyde seat with side bolsters.

In 1965, Chevrolet received its first order of Monza Junior Go Karts from Rupp. Chevrolet displayed them and raffled them away at auto shows and exhibits. It is believed that they first made their appearance at the Detroit Auto show in conjunction with the newly restyled 1965 Corvair.

Initially, they could only be won through special promotions, but eventually Rupp was allowed to sell them to the general public. Not only could the general public purchase them from Rupp, but also dealerships began buying them and offering them in their own promotions as well.

Over the years, there were some slight changes made to the carts. The very first carts produced from 1965 to 1967 were named Monza Juniors and were Ember Red like the full sized Monza SS prototype they paid homage to. In 1968 the cart's name was changed to Chevy Junior and the body color was changed to Marina Blue with a white stripe pattern added to the nose and rear end. Chevrolet continued to use the carts in promotional give-a-ways up until around 1975.

Under the direction of the auto club's moderator, Byron Marquis, the club restored the go-kart to like-new status, changing only its body color from its original design. The members that worked on the project include:

Immersion Trips

The Ignatian Service Office at U of D Jesuit offers its students, alumni, and faculty opportunities to participate in week-long service trips locally, nationally, and internationally. Many of these experiences help participants gain a better understanding of the culture and society in which they are working. By working directly with those individuals in need, participants are able to see how their actions benefit not only those they are serving, but also how serving has its own reward.

This summer, a few of the trips included: Partnering with Rostro de Cristo to send a group of students to Ecuador, volunteering with St. Anne Catholic Church on Mackinac Island to work with the seasonal employees, and joining Christians for Peace in El Salvador (CRISPAZ) to experience the lifestyle and engage in theological reflection in El Salvador.

While in Ecuador, students immersed themselves in the Ecuadorian culture and participated in different service activities with the locals of all ages. The Cubs departed on June 19th and returned on June 26, 2017.

Those on Mackinac Island volunteered with carriage drivers, hotel employees and street sweepers to experience a typical workday on the Island. From the evening of Sunday, July 9, 2017 until the following Friday morning, July 14th, the students worked days as long as 10 hours, depending on the assigned jobs. They filled in for Island employees who needed days off. In return, the U of D Jesuit students experienced firsthand the kind of work summer employees do.

State Of The High

In late June, a group of eight students and two adults made the trip to El Salvador with CRISPAZ, which offers an intense program that connects history to present day issues, including migration, neoliberal economics, and environmental issues. The delegation celebrated mass at the crypt of Oscar Romero and spent time at Divine Providence where he was martyred. They also prayed at the site where the churchwomen were killed. The most important learning occurred in the stories and lived experiences that were so generously shared. There are no words to communicate the heartbreak of the father from COFAMIDE (the Committee of Family Members of Migrants Who Have Died or Disappeared) whose beloved son went missing years ago as he fled north to escape the gangs in his neighborhood, or the horrific stories of torture and war shared by the Delegates of the Word and community elders in the village of Papaturro where the group was offered hospitality for three days.

The goal of the immersion program is to provide opportunities for our students to become "Men for Others". St. Ignatius believed that students of Jesuit education must be formed not only intellectually, but also spiritually and culturally. Service is the "school of the heart" that allows our students to move beyond themselves and work for God's greater glory on earth.

Cubs Recognized by National Merit Scholarship Program

On September 21, 2017, The National Merit Scholarship Corporation announced that five students (Daniel Barber '18, Nathan Boyd '18, Reginald Galanto '18, Ryan Kellett '18 and Christian Peters '18) were named Commended Students in the 2018 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Peter Chekal '18 was named a National Merit Scholarship Program Semifinalist on Wednesday, Sept. 13th.

About 34,000 students across the country have been recognized as Commended Students, recognizing their exceptional academic promise. Although this group of students did not move on in the 2018 competition for National Merit Scholarship awards, Commended Students placed among the top 50,000 scorers of more than 1.6 million students who entered the competition by taking the 2016 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT).

U of D Jesuit Invitational Raises Money for Scholarships

The Second Annual U of D Jesuit Invitational took place on Monday, July 17, 2017 at Country Club of Detroit in Grosse Pointe Farms. In just its second year as a scholarship fundraiser format, Cubs (and a couple alumni from rival schools) from various decades and other guests came together in support of raising money for the U of D Jesuit High School and Academy Scholarship Fund. Forty-four generous sponsors and over 140 golfers helped us exceed our $12,700 (tuition) goal to send one young man to The High this year. This year, we nearly doubled our goal thanks to the amazing support of our sponsors. Thank you to each and every one of you! The Third Annual U of D Jesuit Invitational will take place in July 2018.

The event sold out in just over two weeks and like the 2016 event, the demand was overwhelming. The Executive Committee planned a fantastic event and the Country Club of Detroit put on a first class outing for our alumni and friends. Seeing the success of our efforts in just two years, we have our sights set on making the U of D Jesuit Invitational a great way to raise funds for our Annual Fund to benefit the Scholarship program. Over 30% of our 900 students receive financial assistance, so the support is greatly appreciated. If you are interested in sponsoring our event in 2018, please contact Director of Alumni Relations Jack Donnelly '99 at (313) 927-2304. The committee is looking forward to reaching even higher in 2018! Sponsors will get first refusal on golf spots before registration opens next May.

Ignatian Educator: John Feeney

Mr. John Feeney has taught Latin at U of D Jesuit since 1994. John has helped carry on the 140 year tradition of teaching Latin at The High. Mr. Feeney has also taught French and Spanish during his time at U of D Jesuit.

How would you define Jesuit Education?

Jesuit education, I would begin by using the phrase Cura Personalis. The care of the entire person. Jesuit education looks at the person as a whole person. You want to be able to tap into every aspect, not just the academic, but how they are psychologically and socially so that you are dealing with the whole person.

Has there been anyone in your career at U of D Jesuit that has influence how you teach?

Absolutely. When I first started here in 1994, I had a mentor in Fr. Patrick J. "PJ" Rice. Fr. Rice was an extraordinary man. He hired me. He was the department chair when I started. As the chair, he visited my classroom the first couple of weeks, and after he visited my class, the next day in my mailbox there was a single spaced, 3-4 page typed letter detailing everything. He noticed every defect. I felt miserable and thought I was in the wrong career, but he worked with me on every detail. He was a very caring, loving guide and mentor, and helped me very much. Throughout the years, he was here when I started in 1994 and he died in 2007, he was tremendous. I wouldn't be the teacher I am if it wasn't for Fr. Rice.

What brought you to U of D Jesuit?

At the time, I was working on my Ph.D. in Romance Languages and Wayne State University. I was getting bogged down because I had finished all of the course work, but wasn't making any progress on my dissertation and needed money. So I needed a job. I had been working as a teacher elsewhere, and was a teaching assistant at Wayne State but I had a son that was ready for seventh grade. He had applied to get into the academy and thought I could get a job here and double up on taking him to school. I applied and there was an opening for French. So I was teaching primarily French to start. Over the years, into the 2000s, enrollment in French declined so the decision to phase out French and bring in Chinese was made. After that, I began teaching Latin and Spanish.

Ignatian Educator: John Feeney

What has kept you coming back to U of D Jesuit?

My son started the same time I did. He graduated in 2000, and it became, teaching here – I gave up the idea of teaching in a university as I originally intended because I found the engagement, going back to Cura Personalis, with the students was such a wonderful thing. I enjoyed it so much. I enjoyed the fellowship with my colleagues. There is a great sense of camaraderie among them. I love it here.

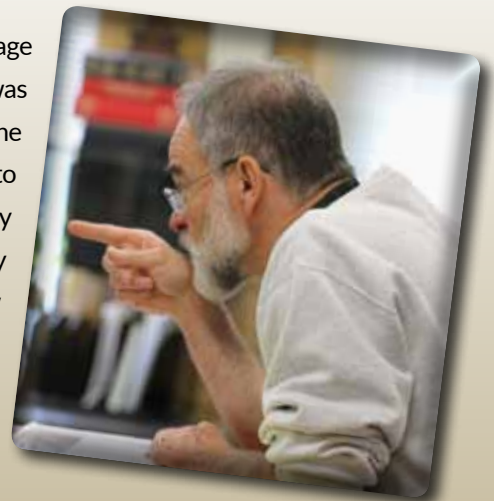

How does Latin fit into a Jesuit education?

We can confidently say that Latin has been taught here since 1877. It's the one course that has remained here at all times since the school started. One of the ideas about Latin is that, Latin was the functional language, not a living language. It was the functional language of international diplomacy and international communication within the church for hundreds of years, for the great part of Western European history. So much of our history happened in a Latin communicating time, so it puts you in touch with that history. Jesuits went out across the world in different countries, whenever they encountered another Jesuit, they could always speak to each other in Latin because that is what they were trained. Fr. Rice was one of the last Jesuits whose training in the novitiate was in Latin. He recounted to me, that it was clumsy because he was in the novitiate in December 1941 when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor and everyone was trying to tell each other the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor in Latin, and they stumbled over that.

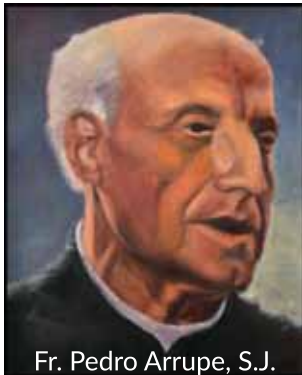

What are some of the characteristics you feel comprise a Jesuit Educator?

I think, and this is an odd response, somehow when I go in to teach it is like going on stage like a stand-up comedian. A stand-up comedian has to be very, very – and Paul Elia '06 was just here and he is a stand-up comedian – a stand-up comedian has to be so aware of the audience because the same joke will fly with one audience and fall with another. I have to apply that to a Jesuit education because I am aware of what my audience is and who they are and what motivates them and what kind of ideas grasp their imaginations and so I try to combined that sense of teaching to the whole person and being a whole person I know my audience so I can successfully get across the material.

Supporting The Jesuit High School Experience in Detroit

Fr. Pedro Arrupe, S.J.

With a vision for the future of The High, Fr. Malcolm Carron, S.J. '35 established the Arrupe Society in 1985. Fr. Carron wanted to be sure that U of D Jesuit would continue to graduate Cubs who would be well-prepared as leaders: Men for Others who would serve their families, parishes and communities. Continuing Fr.

Carron's work, our benefactors who have included U of D Jesuit in their will or estate plan have similarly laid the foundation for our future.

This year, fifteen benefactors have joined the Arrupe Society, bringing total membership to 227. Over the years, Arrupe Society members have given more than $12,500,000 to support our school. Some members have named The High as the beneficiary of their IRAs. Others have made provisions in their wills to establish a named perpetual scholarship. While the details of their legacy gifts differ, these alumni and friends share the same generous sentiment: to provide ongoing financial support so that future generations of Cubs will graduate with a well-rounded perspective, a sense of humility and justice, and an entire world of possibilities ahead of them.

We are grateful to the following friends who have joined the Arrupe Society between July 2016 and June 2017.

Sponsoring A Circle of Care Scholarship

Will Change Their Future and Yours Too!

How can I change a young man's future?

How can I honor a loved one with a named scholarship?

The answer to these questions is to become a Circle of Care Scholarship sponsor. A sponsor makes a special commitment to fund a U of D Jesuit education. There are two possible Circle of Care Scholarship opportunities, "Annual" and "Endowed".

The Annual Circle of Care Scholarship Program has these features:

- The sponsor is specifically assigned to the student during his four-years here. Sponsors will have the opportunity to meet the student and parents at the Annual Dinner, usually held in early October. Also, there is communication three times during the year between the student and the sponsor. These letters allow you to follow the student during his days at the School.
- This is a sponsor-named scholarship. You may name the scholarship for yourself, or for another person(s) you would like to honor.
- The sponsor is matched with a student selected by the School's Financial Aid Committee. You may provide general preferences for your assigned student (e.g. resides in the city of Detroit). We will do our best to accommodate your preferences. Selected students must meet and maintain certain academic, financial, and discipline eligibility standards.
- For the upcoming academic year, the gift is a four-year pledge of $12,000 per year (a total of $48,000 over the four years). A four-year pledge ensures that the student will have tuition assistance during his years at The High. The tuition to educate a student is $12,700 for the current academic year.

Several benefactors have taken an extra step and have endowed their Circle of Care Scholarship gift. The endowed gift allows them to link their legacy with that of U of D Jesuit in the form of a named scholarship. Their gift will fund in perpetuity the tuition for a student at The High. All the features of the Annual Circle of Care Scholarship also apply to the Endowed Circle of Care Scholarship. For the upcoming academic year, an Endowed Circle of Care Scholarship is a gift of $250,000. The gift may be paid over a period of five years.

If you are interested in hearing more about the Circle of Care Scholarship, please contact Katie Sznewajs at (313) 927-2325 or at kathryn.sznewajs@uofdjesuit.org.

On the following page we recognize the Circle of Care Scholarship sponsors as of August 31, 2017. "Annual Scholarship" sponsors are those who made a four-year commitment to fund a student's tuition. "Endowed Scholarship" sponsors have either a fully-endowed scholarship, or one which is partially-endowed and continues to be funded towards full endowment.

President's Report

Fiscal Year July 1, 2016 – June 30, 2017

U of D Jesuit thanks its generous benefactors

A Note from the President

Dear U of D Jesuit Community,

As President of U of D Jesuit, I am delighted to acknowledge the many wonderful benefactors whose names appear on the following pages. I am humbled by the overwhelming support which this school receives. I also realize that there are many individuals who support the school in many ways through their volunteer efforts. We are a stronger institution because of the good will of so many. Thank you to all who support the mission of U of D Jesuit in forming "Men for Others for the greater glory of God."

God Bless,

Theodore G. Munz, S.J.
President

2017 Grand Reunion Weekend

On June 2nd and 3rd, The High welcomed back our reunion classes ending in “2” and “7.” Cubs from various classes got together for a great weekend that started with the Alumni Golf Outing at Warren Valley Golf Club in Dearborn Heights Friday morning. Friday Stag Night kicked off on June 2nd and we had a great turnout, over 200 Cubs came back to school to see one another and take tours on the new Science and Engineering Center. Once again, it was great to see so many familiar faces that have not been back to 8400 S. Cambridge in many years.

Saturday morning started with the Detroit Bike Tour, we had approximately forty riders touring the city and a great picture of the group was captured of that group. The Bike Tour included people from various years, not just reunion years, as well as a trailer for spare tubes and a start and finish at Z’s Villa.

Saturday Night’s Mass & Dinner welcomed alumni and their spouses and guests. Fearless Foto was at school to add a fun twist of photo booths as we know them and our guests seemed to enjoy that very much. The 50th Reunion Class of 1967 had Curley Hall all to themselves as they celebrated their 50th year as alumni.

In 2018, we will welcome alumni from the classes of 1953, 1958, 1963, 1968, 1973, 1978, 1983, 1988, 1993, 1998, 2003 and 2008!

Fr. Thomas Cusick '56 retired on August 27th. His last Mass was at 10:30 AM that day at St. Anthony Church in Belleville, MI. We wish Fr. Tom the best in his retirement!

Hon. John E. Fitzgerald '57 retired after 18 years as a trial court judge for the State of Michigan, having served as a District, Circuit and Probate Judge. Prior to his judicial service, he serviced the public as a Prosecuting Attorney. During a 50+ year career as an attorney, he has had the opportunity to represent a wide variety of clients ranging from individuals to international corporations. In addition to his undergraduate and law degrees from the University of Detroit, he completed the Certificate Program in Bioethics & the Medical Humanities at Columbia University College of Physicians & Surgeons and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, New York, NY. He now serves as a Trustee for the Village of Hillman, where he resides with his wife of 42 years, Rev. Mary B. Fitzgerald, an ordained minister, serving various churches in northern Michigan. In 1993, he was selected from a pool of 2500 competitors for one of seventy positions that allowed him to put his work-life on hold and attend school full time, all while continuing to draw his salary. Although a self-described "less than stellar student" during his time at U of D High, Tim credits the lessons he learned at U of D High with building the foundation that allowed him to graduate with a 4.0 GPA, tied for first in his class, with a degree in Auto Body Design. After high school, Norm went on to receive an undergraduate degree in Accounting from the University of Detroit, followed by his law degree from the University of Detroit Law School. He enjoyed a successful career as an executive for Chrysler and General Dynamics. His grandchildren were his world and he tried to be involved with everything possible that they did. Special times spent together with the family included their annual trips up to Walloon Lake. Also, devotion to his Catholic faith was a central theme in his life. It was noted that he served over 1500 Masses during his grade school and high school years. Sadly, his beloved wife, Maureen, died in 2013 after over 56 years of marriage. Norm is survived by his loving children, Norm (Kathy), Rita Lewry (Tom), Suzanne Mattingly (Christopher) and Brian (Julie) and cherished grandchildren, Colin, Shannon, Stephanie, Tyler, Meghan, Casey, Sean, Michael and Connor.
